CAPITOL TALK & TOUR

YOU'RE INVITED!

CAPITOL FUN FACTS

Here are a couple fun facts about some of the places we'll be touring around the capitol!

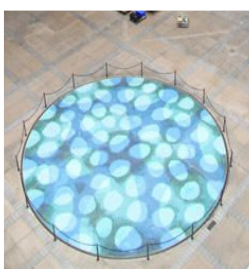

FATHER DAMIEN STATUE

Father Damien was a Roman Catholic priest who volunteered to go to Moloka'i in 1873 to care for the outcasts afflicted with leprosy. He lived and worked on Kalaupapa for 16 years to care and work for the people.

LIBERTY BELL REPLICA

The replica of the Liberty Bell was presented to the Territory of Hawai'i in 1950. The U.S. Treasury Department produced 55 of these replicas for states and territories to ring on patriotic occasions

"AQUARIUS"

The "Aquarius" is a 36-foot mosaic made with over 600,000 Italian tiles. Tadashi Sato of Maui created the mosaic based on his painting, also entitled "Aquarius." From above, envision the sparkling waters, submerged rocks and playful shadows of native waters.

HOUSE CHAMBER

The House of Representatives Chamber is decorated with warm earthy tones to complement the room's color scheme. The "Sun" is made with 132 gold-plated copper and brass orbs which emit prisms that cast pale rainbows on the ceiling.

SENATE CHAMBER

The Senate Chamber is filled with the cool colors of the ocean, sand and sky. Hanging from the center is the "Moon." Wired with a color-changing sequence, the sculpture glows with different hues behind the polished aluminum and 630 nautilus shells.

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER

The doors and much of the room is built with koa, an indigenous hardwood. Inside the Executive Chamber is the Governor's Ceremonial Room where he greets visiting dignitaries, holds press conferences and signs bills into law.
